Procedure for Problematic Individuals

If any member of the group causes issues for the group, either through verbal argument, lack of communication, or failure to fulfill basic requirements of their job, we will first try to make contact with said group member to see if there are any external forces that would be causing such a problem, such as personal injury or a family emergency. If the member either does not respond to communication efforts or is not suffering from either of the previously mentioned issues, then our group will contact the teacher in an effort to remove said person of issue from the project.
